

College Panhellenic Conference
BOWLING GREEN STATE UNIVERSITY
Executive Team 2020

We, as the College Panhellenic Conference at Bowling Green State University, value empowerment and accountability within ourselves and our community. In order to be women of our word, we must show up for our black community and support them in the aftermath of the murders of George Floyd, Breonna Taylor, Ahmaud Arbery, and all other black Americans who have lost their lives due to the color of their skin.

We are also taking this time to look inwards at ourselves and we acknowledge that we have a duty to create a stronger atmosphere of inclusion within our council, and outwards to the greater FSL community, to allow every member to feel accepted and valued. The National Panhellenic Conference Creed states “We as undergraduate members of women’s fraternities stand for good scholarship, the guarding of good health, for maintenance of fine standards, and for serving, to the best of our ability, our college community”. In order to live out our creed, we encourage our sisters to educate themselves about the racial injustices and privileges that are a part of American culture and to be in support of the black community in their struggle for justice. This means we must examine our places of privilege and acknowledge how we can best help those without a recognized voice.

To every black woman in our community, presently or alumna, we see you, hear you, we support you, we value you. You are an important part of our community, and we want you to know that we stand with you and advocate for you because we realize silence is not an option if we are being true to our council mission.

We encourage everyone to utilize the following resource bank & explore all the ways you can help:
